

A modern bathroom interior featuring a large, frameless sliding shower screen. The screen is made of clear glass and is mounted on a dark metal track system. Two large, round showerheads are suspended from the track. The walls are covered in large, light-colored square tiles, and the floor is made of grey square tiles. To the right of the shower, there is a wooden vanity with a dark cabinet and a mirror. On the vanity, there are two framed pictures and a bottle of Colgate toothpaste.
